ART ON THE LUAS

This summer the Railway Procurement Agency is supporting a number of events which are aimed at encouraging people to enjoy a range of mostly free activities in the heart of the city.

Ireland's first international festival of Photography will be celebrated from 1st-11th July at over 30 venues across Dublin city centre. An exciting programme of more than 25 exhibitions from Irish and International photographers, present a rich variety of style and format from artists such as kennardphillips, Giorgia Fiorio, David Farrell, Sean Hillen, Renhui Zhao, Debbie Castro, Ethna O'Regan, Emer Roberts, and Glen E. Friedman. Alongside ten days of educational workshops, portfolio reviews, open discussion and live events; Photolreland promises new ways of seeing, understanding, participating and enjoying the rich photographic and artistic culture which Ireland has to offer. See www.photolreland.org for a full programme of events

Luas is taking part in the first International Photolreland Festival with art displayed at selected stops in Dublin city centre during the festival. Selected works will be on display at The Point, Jervis, Smithfield and Heuston stops on Luas Red Line and St. Stephens Green stop on Luas Green Line for the duration of the Festival.

HOW TO GET THERE

Getting to the Photolreland Festival couldn't be easier with Luas! The festival is being celebrated in over 30 venues across the city, most within easy walking distance from James's, Heuston, Museum, Smithfield, Four Courts, Jervis, Abbey, Busaras and The Point stops on Luas Red Line and St. Stephens Green stop on Luas Green Line. Taking the car? Use Luas Park + Ride services. See www.luas.ie for information.
