10,000 Free Luas Tickets for Dublin Docklands Maritime Festival

The Railway Procurement Agency (RPA) is pleased to announce that Luas is partnering with the Docklands Maritime Festival and is offering 10,000 free Luas tickets over the June Bank Holiday weekend to those who wish to travel to the seventh annual maritime festival.

Last year, 150,000 visitors came to Docklands to the Festival and this year promises to be even better. Since last year the Luas Red Line has gone into service in the Docklands area with the opening of Luas Docklands (Line C1) at the end of 2009.

This significant initiative by the RPA is to mark the fact that Luas has helped to enhance the Docklands area and also to encourage more people to use public transport to explore Dublin's thriving Docklands area, particularly at Festival time.

See luas.ie for details and instructions on how to reserve free Luas tickets while stocks last.
