

Moose on the Luas

The “Moose on the Luas” project came together as a partnership between the Railway Procurement Agency, IADT and the School of Creative Arts to mark the launch of the Luas Cherrywood extension.

This new Luas Green Line extension from Sandyford to Brides Glen provided a rich opportunity for students and staff in the School of Creative Arts to bring together their creativity and talents in a true spirit of collaboration and creative interaction.

IADT's strong links within the community and the cultural, commercial and educational sectors in the greater Dun Laoghaire /Rathdown region and beyond, forms an essential part of their Strategic Plan. It adds to their educational programmes, and is a vital part of the student experience at IADT. Through this project with RPA, IADT hopes to expand its connections to the wider community.

IADT Credits:

- Model Making programme co-ordinator- Julian King
- Lead Lecturer of Street theatre and creative director of project- Ger Clancy
- Lecturer in Street Theatre - Sherra Murphy
- Student designer/maker and artist of the Moose- Matt Stanford
- Student designer/maker and artist of the Tortoise- Gavin Guilfoyle
- Support Lecturers- Julian King, Paul McDonnell, Martin Marley, John Buckley
- Natural History Museum Keeper - Nigel Monaghan
- Artwork, Shirley Casey - Lecturer in 3D Spatial Design, BA(Hons) in Visual Communication Design
- Photography - Nick Bradshaw

For more information on IADT please click here